

Bluenotes GLOBAL 2020
VIRTUAL EXPERIENCE

Panel Session

Impact of COVID-19 Pandemic on Course Evaluation Programs – Policy, Process, People

August 4-5, 2020

Panelists

- Carmen Goodridge, Senior Surveys and Evaluations Officer, Murdoch University
- Clare Senior, Project Manager – Teaching Excellence, University of Western Australia
- Keelin George, Manager – Student Surveys and Engagement, University of New South Wales
- Tom Dun, Educational Technology Support Officer, The University of Melbourne

Questions:

- Given the COVID-19 pandemic was thrust upon us without warning, how did this impact your planned course evaluations?
- What considerations were made with regards to how to move forward with the evaluation process?
- What worked well with the new approach? Who benefited and why?
- Are there any remaining uncertainties that need to be addressed for the next round of evaluations?
- Is there any one valuable learning from the experience that would be of benefit for other institutions in the Bluenotes community?